

Women's History Month Links

March 2011

The 2011 Women's History Month theme "Our History is Our Strength" was chosen to pay tribute to the millions of women who helped create a better world for the times in which they lived as well as for future generations. Knowing the challenges these women faced, grappled with, and over-came can be an enormous source of strength to all of us. During today's difficult times, "Our History is Our Strength" can serve as an important reminder to our nation that adversity can be overcome.

<http://www.nwhp.org/>

The California-based National Women's History Project (NWHP) is a non-profit education organization dedicated to informing others about women of historical significance.

<http://teacher.scholastic.com/activities/women/index.htm>

Scholastic's Women Who Changed History site has projects and activities.

<http://teacher.scholastic.com/researchtools/articlearchives/womhst/index.htm>

Scholastic's Research Tools on Women's History.

<http://www.iwasm.org/>

The International Women's Air & Space Museum preserves the history of women in aviation and space.

<http://search.eb.com/women/>

Browse Encyclopedia Britannica articles, including biographies, a timeline, topical essays and video and audio pieces.

<http://lcweb2.loc.gov/ammem/vfwhtml/vfwhome.html>

View the Library of Congress' collection of images from the women's suffrage movement, including portraits, cartoons and parade photos.

<http://www.suffragist.com/timeline.htm>

This is an annotated timeline of the suffragist movement, from Anne Hutchinson's 1637 conviction for sedition to the 1920 ratification of the Nineteenth Amendment to the Constitution.

<http://www.nobel.se/peace/articles/heroines/>

Read an essay about the nine women who've been awarded the Nobel Peace Prize.

<http://www.womenwriters.net/domesticgoddess/>

Biographies and links for nine U.S. women writers, including Louisa May Alcott and Willa Cather.